

CarloAlbertoLawSeminars

Carlo Alberto Law Seminars Fall 2016

The Carlo Alberto Law Seminars bring together a prestigious group of scholars and practitioners to discuss the role that law plays in the current global economic order.

The series aims to foster critical thinking on the impact of economic globalization and financialization upon the capacity of international, supranational and domestic legal systems to safeguard non-economic interests and values.

Furthermore, CAL Seminars purports to facilitate the debate between legal and non-legal experts on these topics.

5 October 2016, 3 pm

Julio César Rivera (Universidad de San Andrés)

A Critical Review of the Treatment of Argentina's Economic Crisis in International Investment Arbitration

14 October 2016, 12 pm

Panos Papapaschalis (ESMA/ECB)

EU Administrative Law Seminar: From Meroni to Gauweiler

19 October 2016, 4 pm

Harm Schepel (University of Kent)

EU Investment Agreements and the End of the Internal Market

16 November 2016, 4 pm

Andreas Ziegler (Université de Lausanne)

Is there a problem with the TTIP (and other Megaregionals)?

1 December 2016

Luca Pasquet (Max Planck Institute Luxembourg)

The Internationalization of the 'Solange' Method and its Application to Inter-Systemic Conflicts

Date to be defined

Hadar Aviram (UC Hastings College of the Law)

Cheap on Crime: Recession-Era Politics and the Transformation of American Punishment

Carlo Alberto Law Seminars